

Solar with battery project financing options in Brazil 2025

Why is Brazil launching a battery auction in 2025?

Regarding the launch of the BESS auction in 2025, the Brazilian minister, Alexandre Silveira de Oliveira, said: "The purpose of the battery auction is to boost battery technology in Brazil and try to bring Huawei and other large battery producers, mainly from China and other countries, to be able to bring technology to Brazil."

Why does Brazil conduct solar power auctions?

Brazil typically conducts auctions to secure power capacity for periods when demand peaks but supply diminishes, such as late afternoons - a time when solar power production declines. The June 2025 auction, exclusively for batteries and storage systems, is the first time the government allows such technologies to participate.

Could a Bess auction boost renewables in Brazil?

The launch of a dedicated BESS auction in Brazil could help boost the growth of the technology in the country and further enhance the use of renewables such as solar PV and wind.

Can foreigners invest in battery storage businesses in Brazil?

Investment, incentives and taxation scenarios According to Brazilian law, there are no legal restrictions on direct foreign investment in the battery storage businesses or in the power sector (except in very specific segments or sectors of the economy).

Is solar energy the fastest growing energy source in Brazil?

Despite being the fastest-growing energy source, solar energy represents less than 10% of total energy consumption in Brazil. In 2023, more than 70% of solar energy capacity additions were from distributed generation. However, access to financing is still limited, with 78% of customers experiencing difficulties in 2022.
